Extra Credit Assignment

Due in class on March, 3 2011.

(5 points) Choose either one of the journal articles listed on the course homepage or a similar article of interest to you that discusses or uses econometric methods relevant to this course. Write a short review of the article, approximately two pages in length, that includes a summary of the article, what you learned, your opinion of the article, any flaws you find, and any suggestions for improvement. If the article is applied in nature, your review should describe the econometric analysis and discuss the meaning, importance, or implications of the results.
